The Companion Workbook

7 MODULES · 16 LESSONS

MODULE 1

The Idea Layer

Skill inventory: three columns to fill in — "Things people already ask me for," "Things I taught myself the hard way," "Things I do faster than most people I know."

Things people already ask me for	Things I taught myself the hard way	Things I do faster than most people I know

Sellable-skill test: for each skill listed, a line to write the RESULT it gets someone (not the activity).

3

Buyer sketch: name, age range, one sentence on where she is in life, one sentence on the specific problem she has right now.

The one-line formula, fill-in-the-blank: "I help _____ do _____ so they can _____."

"I help _____ do _____ so they can _____"

5

Naming shortlist: three name options, plus a checkbox next to each for "passes the positioning test."

☐ _____

☐ _____

MODULE 2

Your Digital Product

1

Format decision: five formats listed with a line under each for "why this would/wouldn't fit my buyer," ending in one circled choice.

2

One-sitting outline template: numbered section slots (start with 5) with a line each for section title and one-sentence summary.

3

Build checklist: cover page, table of contents, each outlined section, worksheets/templates included, export format — a checkbox next to each.

- ☐ cover page
- ☐ table of contents
- ☐ each outlined section
- ☐ worksheets/templates included
- ☐ export format

4

"Cut list": a space to note anything tempting to add that doesn't serve the one core promise, to save for a future product instead.

MODULE 3

The Home You Own

1

Platform decision worksheet: two columns (storefront tool vs. site builder) with space to note which fits her comfort level and timeline, ending in one choice.

Page-element checklist: headline, product image, price and buy button, credibility line, tested purchase — checkboxes for each as she builds.

- ☐ headline
- ☐ product image
- ☐ price
- ☐ buy button
- ☐ credibility line
- ☐ tested purchase

3

Sales page skeleton: headline, 3–5 bullets, "this is for you if," price/what's included, FAQ (2 questions minimum) — fill-in sections in order.

4

Voice check: a space to paste her draft headline and rewrite it as if she were texting a friend, side by side.

MODULE 4

Getting Paid

1

Pricing worksheet: three anchor prices (competitor, 1:1 rate, category range) with her final launch price circled and one sentence on why.

2

Delivery flow map: five steps (payment → confirmation → delivery → receipt → records) with a checkbox confirming each is automated.

3

Test-purchase log: date, amount, what worked, what needs fixing before real launch.

MODULE 5

Content That Sells Softly

- 1

Three-post-type worksheet: a blank draft slot for one problem post, one proof post, and one invitation post.

Monthly calendar grid: four weeks, three post slots per week, pre-labeled with post type so the rhythm is built in.

	Post 1	Post 2	Post 3
Wk 1
Wk 2
Wk 3
Wk 4

- 3

Batching schedule: three time blocks to fill in (write captions, create visuals, schedule) with target dates.

MODULE 6

The Quiet Launch

- 1 Seven-day launch calendar: days 1–7, each with a line for the day's theme and the specific post/email planned.

Day 1

Day 2

Day 3

Day 4

Day 5

Day 6

Day 7

- 2 Warm-up tracker: three planned touchpoints (poll/question, personal story, coming-soon mention) with target dates.

- 3 List-building note: current list/audience size, and one action to grow it before launch if starting small.

MODULE 7

Soft Systems

Email automation checklist: welcome email, inactivity nudge, completion email — each with a checkbox and a one-line note on its trigger.

- ☐ welcome email
- ☐ inactivity nudge
- ☐ completion email

Monthly numbers log: a repeatable table with columns for month, sales, completion rate, and top traffic source, with 3 blank rows to start filling in after launch.

month	sales	completion rate	top traffic source

Course close-out: a short reflection prompt — "the one thing I'm proudest I built in this course is ____" and "the next product I might build is ____."

"the one thing I'm proudest I built in this course is _____"

"the next product I might build is _____"
